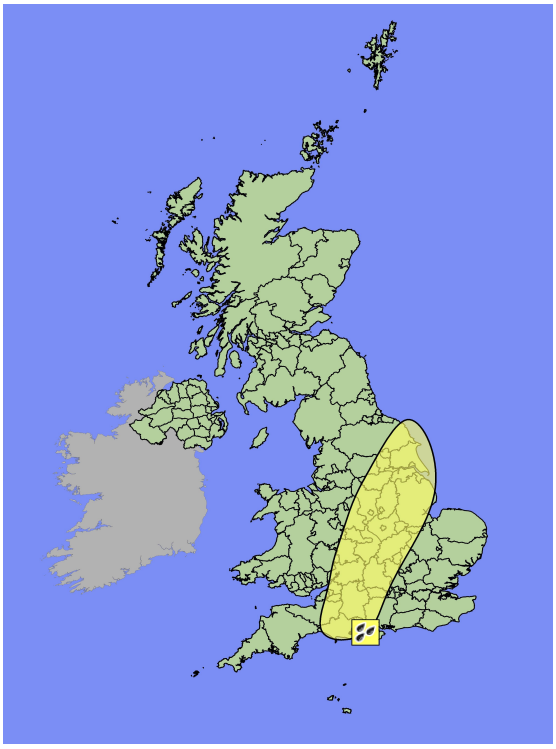
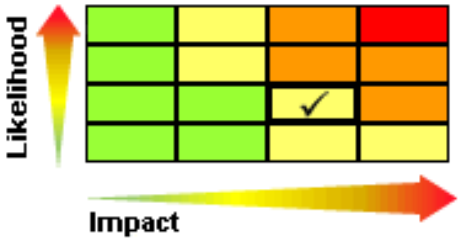
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An increasingly active wave will move northeast along a cold front during Wednesday night and Thursday, bringing a risk of heavy rain. The heaviest rain is likely be in narrow bands and last for less than 3 hours in any one place, such that there will be large variations in rainfall totals within relatively small distances. However, where this occurs over urban areas there is a risk of localised surface water flooding.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 00:00 on Thu, 25th Aug 2011 until 15:00 on Thu, 25th Aug 2011

Heavy rain is expected to move northeastwards across parts of England during Wednesday night and Thursday. Totals of 20-40 mm of rain are possible in places within a 3 hour period.
